DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

2. Claims 1-8, 10 and 15-17 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Sappington (US 5,414,936).

Sappington discloses in Figures 1-6, an adjustable archery sight comprising:

With respect to claims 1-8 and 10:

- a) a vertical slide (Fig. 2, slide 53), a vertical slide mount (Fig. 2, carriage 25) slidably engaged with the vertical slide to allow movement of the vertical slide in a vertical direction (Fig. 1), a horizontal bar (Fig. 2, screw 121) adapted for receiving an aiming sight and engaged with at least one of the vertical slide and vertical slide mount to allow movement of the horizontal bar in a horizontal direction (Fig. 1), a removable adjustment member (Fig. 2, bracket 83, slide 51, support 101 and bracket 89) that adjusts the aiming sight in controlled, finite, repeatable, increments in the horizontal and vertical direction relative to a fixed point on a bow (Fig. 1);
- b) further including a mounting member (Fig. 2, bracket 5) mounted to the bow and engaged to the vertical slide mount (Fig. 1);

- c) further including an extension member (Fig. 2, arm 3) extending between the mounting member and the vertical slide mount (Fig. 1);
- d) further including a first coupling (Fig. 2, axial knob 133) to couple the adjustment member to the horizontal bar and at least one of the vertical slide and vertical slide mount (Fig. 1), and;
- e) further including a second coupling (Fig. 2, cap 73) to couple the adjustment member to vertical slide and the vertical slide mount (Fig. 1).

With respect to claims 15-17:

- a) a sight assembly attached to a bow (Fig. 1), horizontal means (Fig. 2, screw 121) for adjusting the sight assembly in a substantially horizontal plane (Fig. 1), vertical means (Fig. 2, slide 53) for adjusting the sight assembly in a substantially vertical plane (Fig. 1), a removable adjustment member (Fig. 2, bracket 83, slide 51, support 101 and bracket 89) that adjusts the aiming sight in controlled, finite, repeatable, increments in the horizontal and vertical direction relative to a fixed point on the bow without disassembling the horizontal or vertical means (Fig. 1);
- b) including a first coupling (Fig. 2, axial knob 133) that couples the adjustment member to the horizontal means (Fig. 1);
- c) including a second coupling (Fig. 2, cap 73) that couples the adjustment member to the vertical means (Fig. 1).

Response to Arguments

3. Applicant's arguments filed on September 14, 2004, have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

4. With respect to claims 1, 6 and 15: The adjustment member disclosed by Sappington is considered to be in a broad sense, a "removable" adjustment member since the components can be removable. Furthermore, the term "removable" does not add any structural limitation to the term "adjustment member", thus it does not provide enough patentable weight.

5. In response to applicant's argument that by disassembling the bracket 83, slide 51, support 101 and bracket 89 the sight 81 is not usable to assist the archer, Sappington does show an adjustment member "without disassembling the vertical and horizontal means", furthermore the adjustment member may be seen as "removable" as defined in paragraph 4.

6. In response to applicant's argument that the references fail to show certain features of applicant's invention, it is noted that the features upon which applicant relies (i.e., aiming device remains operable after the adjustment member is removed) are not recited in the rejected claim(s). Although the claims are interpreted in light of the specification, limitations from the specification are not read into the claims. See In re Van Geuns, 988 F.2d 1181, 26 USPQ2d 1057 (Fed. Cir. 1993). See paragraph 4 for the term "removable".

Conclusion

7. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
